No. 6

Pope Francis recently stated that Christians, Jews, and Muslims all worship the same God of love. He further declared that Muslims worship the "One God." As a believer in and follower of Jesus, and as a pastor, I want to tell you that the Pope is wrong! Even though Christians and Jews share a common heritage of the Old Testament and its teachings, we as Christians have a unique perspective on its interpretation. We see the declaration of God's promised Messiah being fulfilled in Jesus. The Jews do not accept Jesus as their Messiah or believe that He was resurrected from the dead. Muslims carry this disbelief even further and do not accept our Trinitarian view of God, and in Muslim lands the law will punish, imprison or kill those who hold a Christian world view. Muslims do however, teach that Jesus was a prophet and a great teacher, but refuse to accept His divine nature. There is further disagreement regarding the God we worship because Jews and Muslims accuse Christians of being polytheistic, (belief in many gods). We believe that God is Father, Son, Holy Spirit. We as Christians believe that there is One God, who is revealed as three persons, we call this the Trinity. In Matthew 3:13-17 we see the Trinity fully on display as Jesus is baptized, In Mark 14:60-65 Jesus declares that He is the Messiah. Paul, a converted Jew, would declare that in Jesus the Godhead dwelt in bodily form, Colossians 2:9. The Old Testament, to which both Jews and Muslims appeal regarding God's nature, reveals the plurality of God, Genesis 1:26, 11:6-7. As Christians, we accept and believe in a full revelation of God, as He has chosen to reveal Himself. So I completely disagree with Pope Francis when he states that we worship the same God, and I hope you do as well.
